FANOUS MARE RUNS AWAY WITH THE ADVANCE AT SHEEPSHEAD.

Commando Emulates His Lamented Sire and Beats a Smart Field in a Gallep for the Rich Great Trial Stakes-A Chapter of Accidents Over the Steeplechase Course. A sensational day's racing rewarded the 12,000 enthusiasts who patronized the Coney Island Jockey Club yesterday The picturesque Sheepshead Bay Park took on its full summer bloom for the occasion, the weather clerks set the right sauge before knocking off for the holiday and Supt. Frank Clark had the tracks in perfect condition. Most of the visitors were attracted by the rich Great Tial Stakes, but this event was forgotten almost before the winner had cooled out in the general excitement aroused by the phenomenal racing machine Imp She accepted for the Advance stakes at one mile and three-quarters and scare I out Prince McClurg, Lothario and Walf Time The owners of Maid of Harlem and Post Haste left them in to fight it out for the smaller ends of the money, but their chance of beating the Chillicothe idol was reflected by the betting-1 to 10 Imp. 10 to 1 Maid of Harlem, 30 to 1 Post Haste Imp warmed up quietly and almost escaped notice as her once jet black coat is turning to nondescript mixture of bay and brown. When she came out with the colors up. however, she was cheered all along the line on her sleepy progress to the post, which was five furlongs up the new Futurity chute. Little Odom rode the mare and let her out out a pace to suit herself from flag fall. She drew way from the others at once and, passing the stand, with a mile and a furlong still to go, stand, with a mile and a lutiong state to according to the great daughter of Wagner—Fondling, was rating slong comfortably with a lead of eight lengths. Imp recled off the first half-mile in 0:49 1-5, five furlongs in 1:26 4-5, and the mile in 1:39 2-5. The gap between her and the others was growing steadily wider, a fact readily explained when the official watch showed 1:52 2-5 for one mile and an eighth three-fifths of a second faster than the course record, made by Tragedian nearly a year ago with the same jockey up. At the mile and a quarter pole her time, 2:05, equalled the track record which has stood for ten years, and she loped by the one mile and three-eights mark in the unprecedented time of 2:18, clipping three seconds off the track record made five years ago and three-quarters of a second off the world's record made by the four-year-old Sabine, with 109 pounds up, at Washington Park, Chicago, July 5, 1898. Imp lowered her gait a trifle in the next furlong but reached the one mile and a half pole in 2:32, a second better that the track record made ten years ago. Then Odom let out a wrap and the mare sailed along to the one mile and five furlong mark in 2:45 1-5, or three and one-fifth seconds inside the world's record of 2:48 made by the three-year-old findocoraft, with 75 pounds in the saddle, at Morris Park Aug. 27, 1889.

Odom still kept a tight hold on the mare, s the great daughter of Wagner-Fondling, was pounds in the saddle, at Morris Park Aug. 27, 1889.

Odom still kept a tight hold on the mare, shead and she galloped up the home stretch without a falter. In fact she had so much momentum that she went nearly two furlongs past the judges' stand before the boy could pull her up. The total time of the race, 2:59 1-5, completely wiped out the track record of 3:01½, which had stood for nearly twenty years, and also beat the world's record of 2:59½, made by Ben Holladay as a four-year-old, with 118 pounds on his back at Morris Park, Oct. 23, 1807. No other description of the race is called for as the mare won by fully thirty lengths while Maid of Harlem beat Post Haste eight lengths. The race was worth 34,640 to the owners of Imp.

The Great Trial was almost as one-sided a contest, considering the shorter distance. After a long delay the eleven candidates got off in perfect alignment, but Commando immediately shot to the front and won all the way in an open gallop by three lengths. The Parader clung to second position throughout and beat Elkhorn a head for the place. Summaries:
